

Name: Lynnette Leeseberg Stamler, PhD, DLitt, RN, FAAN

Current Title: Associate Dean for Academic Programs

Affiliation: University of Nebraska Medical Center

Candidate for: MNRS Board Member-at-Large

Personal Statement:

The three most common missions of universities with nursing schools are scholarship, teaching and service. I view the opportunity to serve on the MNRS Board of Directors as contributing to all the missions. The MNRS Board of Directors contributes to the fostering and furthering of scholarship through research presentations and networking. It improves teaching through opportunities to present nursing education research as well as learning about cutting edge research knowledge that becomes content in future classes. It serves the profession through networking to further collaboration for scholars, educators and practicing nurses. I began membership with MNRS as a doctoral student in the 1990s and continued when I returned to work in the U.S. I have had the privilege of serving on several boards and committees from clinics for diabetes and eating disorders to Canadian Association of Schools of Nursing to international committees for Sigma Theta Tau. I continue to value my MNRS membership because it is the strongest and most productive of the regional research societies. I continue to serve MNRS through review of abstracts and award applications and am in my second term of service on the finance committee. My passion is nursing education and how it contributes to the creation and maintenance of a representative workforce that values scholarship and the continuous improvement of patient care. I would very much like to bring my strengths and skills to the activities of the MNRS Board of Directors.
