

Professor Gin S Malhi MBChB BSc (Hons) MD FRCPsych FRANZCP

Professor, Northern Clinical School, Faculty of Medicine and Health, University of Sydney
Head of Department of Psychiatry and Executive Director of CADE Clinic, Royal North Shore Hospital

President International Society for Bipolar Disorders

Editor Bipolar Disorders and Australian and New Zealand Journal of Psychiatry

Editorials Editor & Deputy British Journal of Psychiatry

Dr Malhi has more than 25 years of clinical experience in the diagnosis and management of depression and bipolar disorder and runs the CADE Clinic at Royal North Shore Hospital, Sydney, Australia that provides a state-wide specialist service for mood disorders. As an academic, he holds a full chair at The University of Sydney, and he is the President of the International Society for Bipolar Disorders (ISBD) and the Editor of Bipolar Disorders – the leading journal in the field.

After gaining degrees in Medicine and Pharmacology from the University of Manchester in the UK, and specializing in psychiatry, initially in Cambridge and then at the The Bethlem and Maudsley Hospitals and The Institute of Psychiatry in London, Dr Malhi gained a doctorate from The University of NSW in Sydney, Australia. He is a Fellow both of the UK Royal College of Psychiatrists and the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists (RANZCP), and for his services to the community, he has been the recipient of the RANZCP College Citation and now serves on the College Foundation. He is also a recipient of the Distinguished Professorial Achievement Award from The University of Sydney Medical School.

In terms of research, Dr Malhi conducts neuroscientific studies that examine the neural basis of mood disorders and suicide, for which he has received the RANZCP Senior Researcher Award. He is also a sought-after lecturer and for contributions to teaching and education he has been a recipient of the ISBD Mogens Schou Award. Over his career he has published more than 600 papers and 20 books and book chapters and has been formally recognized by Clarivate as a highly cited researcher (top 1%).

