My certificate is not showing all the credits available with the course.

Be sure you’ve completed all components of the course. Credit is claimed for each session completed. Therefore, you must watch and complete the session evaluation for each of the on-demand sessions in addition to the course evaluation. The course evaluation only has 5.75 credits associated with it, since that’s the amount of time spent in the live Q&A sessions. The other 6.25 credits are claimed when completing the on-demand sessions.

Why do I have multiple certificates?

You are provided a certificate for each type of credit you claim. If you claimed self-assessment credit (ABPN-MOC-2) and CME, you'll have one certificate for ABPN-MOC-2 and one for CME. You can differentiate your certificates by reading the statement below the credits earned (pictured below).

My board (ABAM, ABPM, ABPN) is not listed on the credit claiming page.

The credits listed are what is available for the course; this is not a list of how/where AAAP is reporting credits earned.

- ABAM-MOC is listed as credit on all on-demand sessions and the live course evaluation since we received approval to be listed in their MOC portal. We do not report credits earned directly to this board.
- ABPN-MOC-2 is not listed for this course. This credit type is for self-assessment and this course has no pre-post test of self-assessment questions associated with it.
- ABPM is not listed since they do not require a specific designation beyond our AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™. We do not report credits earned directly to this board.
